Despite the obvious advantages of gasoline, the government is intent on propping up Big Corn's broken ethanol mandate, the Renewable Fuel Standard (RFS). With taxpayer money also funding electric vehicle (EV) research, the government truly is in the business of picking winners and losers – with the consumer footing the bill.

Print as PDF:

Tags

RFS

Renewable Fuel Standard (RFS)

Environmental Protection Agency (EPA)

Ethanol

Congress

White House

Mandates